

australian institute for human dynamics

Paul Hannan is the Principal and senior Coach for the Australian Institute for Human Dynamics. AIHD is 100% Australian owned and has been operating in the areas of organisational and human resource development for 17 years.

From its conception AIHD is well credentialed. The organisation is well experienced to "partner" multinational enterprises, yet intimate enough to provide personalised attention and customer satisfaction based on a true consultative philosophy and approach to small organisations.

The company specialises in providing customised training (either in-house or at conferences). Addressing specific critical issues that can be measured to an organisation's bottom-line.

Sessions include Team Building through Experiential Learning, Speaking & Presenting Skills, Behaviour Profiling, Change Management and the very well known "Soul Selling."

AIHD also provides personalised Coaching with its Principal Paul Hannan.

In summary, AIHD offers focus on moving organisations to face the truth on where it is that change is needed most.
